

PEEK-A-BOO

Dearly beloved, I know many of you have questions at this time. What in the world is going on, and why is my life inexplicably in chaos? Essence speaks as to why so many have been experiencing catastrophic shifts in health, mood, finances, relationships, and other areas of their lives. Where in the world is God? Peek-a-boo. Read on.

As you read, let Grace draw you ever more deeply into the truth of your being. Your answer will come!

Your heart is being opened by Grace. It feels like there are pressures within your soul. You feel as though you are being ripped apart and losing your mind. Pressures are the result of the ascending human mind and the descending spiritual consciousness merging and bringing into union the two which is one. Thus is the spiritual transformation.

Pressure in the soul erupts in many ways as the human being is lifted in consciousness. For some of you it feels as though you have been scattered. Confusion and loss of the old self feels like a pressure from the inside out, bursting forth something within you that is unfamiliar. For some of you, this pressure is understood as a quickening of the Life Force at the very center of the physical body that cannot be detected by any medical profession. This is the Life Force known in the scriptures as eternal life, which is the energy that brings down the Spirit merging it with all of the human being.

As the Spirit lifts the body into the love vibration, pressure is often felt in the mental, the emotional and the physical self. Again, this pressure will be perceived by each one of you differently. According to that which needs to be lifted, it is guided by God.

To assure the least amount of discomfort in the lifting of the physical to the spiritual awareness, it is encouraged of the little children to come as a child into the heart chamber and rest with open minded acceptance, reaching out and up to the spiritual Self for the lifting.

You have been brought to a certain mind understanding according to the intellect. This has been absolutely necessary in developing within you the conscious awareness of co-creation. The point of awareness at which you now rest in the mind is conducive to the transformation process, but it is time to move beyond. Lift up your mind and heart now. Do not be afraid to offer all of your awareness to Grace. This is the frequency necessary in order to be lifted above earth consciousness into spiritual awareness.

You will begin to feel the pressure of life's misconceptions being lifted as if there is a time of total human transformation taking place within your body structure. Your body structures will thus begin to change as the pressure of the Life Force lifts each cellular memory into what is known as Grace awareness. It is a birthing of heart, mind and soul. Again, I offer to you the possibility that this is not a time of extreme comfort for the human being, but it is one that is necessary if you are to give birth in Grace consciousness.

The love of God has penetrated the veils of the sense of separation. As Grace lifts the consciousness into the realization of union, the eternal life idea will begin to impregnate itself more and more in the earth's experience in every way. As this awareness continues to penetrate into the manifest world of experience, it will help to lift the frequency of love in every expression of life. It is Grace that is helping to purify the heart so that the love vibration can be released from the center of your being.

In this purification process, many of you will escape some of the pressure that has been filling the hearts, souls, and bodies of other children in the earth. The human mind cannot capture the reasoning why some are experiencing more pressure than others. However, know that pressure is directly proportionate to one's level of resistance to the unfolding of Grace or one's belief that there is something more that must be done or allowed or accepted for that unfolding to occur. The unfolding of Grace is not a byproduct of the process of surrender or effort. It is the fulfillment of the perfection of one's original design; a birthright of one's being. It is resistance to that which already is your Divine Plan which gives rise to the pressures that you experience. Remember, you are that which you seek! Peek-a-boo!

Become as little children. By this I encourage you to move in spontaneity and not structure. Let each experience take on a life of its own. Do not be focused on existing or old patterns, but allow Grace to lead you. Each experience will be different for each of you; for each is unique. The ways of Grace are not known to the ways of the human mind, and, thus, you must come as a little child ... open, receptive, accepting, innocent, waiting, trusting.

Let's look at the nature of you being in perfection. You are peace, you are love, you are joy. These are the three components of your existence. You are abundance, acceptance, and freedom. These are the laws of being. Repeat often to yourself the Grace Prayer: "I accept the fulfillment of the perfection of my original design; thus, I glorify God, I AM."

Behold, I stand at the door and knock, awaiting my Self to respond. Peek-a-boo!

Love & Blessings,

Diadra
