

New World Consciousness

© Wings o' Spirit

Jesus Christ is here. I AM the presence of Eternal Life. In this moment in time we share that which is the gift of love. I AM the presence of the Lord Jesus Christ, which abides in energy fields everywhere present, attuned to minds and hearts at a love vibration which matches my equal opportunity now. Holding with you now, this is the Will of God.

We measure no ideas. Every person is equal. Every heart is precious and dear. No amount of coercion can persuade the Heavenly Realms. The power of the mercury readings is about loving in energy fields wherever vibrational match you may find yourselves in the many worlds of our God's kingdoms. Your love calls me now into communication with each of you. The center is the place where I abide, and here I AM the presence of the I AM. This Will to which is calling Itself powerfully now to come forward in acceleration to gather the totality of your being into one memory is about to become most accelerated. Fortunately, we are able to communicate to assist you in that which is called "union." Mastery is the gift of the soul which seeks to abide in the love tenure of the Master in I AM.

Procrastination for the call to will your own will will delay progress. Each idea of children in love is calling now from on high within to on high above. And, we come as the love of God in obedience to your call and in obedience to that which is the gift of love in us serving our God.

No amount of will can allow any other energy to help you other than that which is the Will of God carrying forth Its call from within the sincerity of the Light Being that each one of you are.

We acclaim that the will (to which is love) now surfaces and becomes the Word in the reality field of light called Earth. And the present idea to which is about mastership in the children of this world is coming closely now to unified circles of one.

Holy be the light which is gathering Itself in each, and the masters herein love you. With you at all paces of your energy are Beings of Love which are on assigned missions enjoying their assignments to assist. Without these Love Lights, transforming into light would be difficult in the force field of Earth energy in which you presently exist.

The master is the glory of our God always calling Its own name with the desires of the being in love to succeed. Help us, if you will, to understand why it is so difficult for you to believe. We cannot grasp the will to disobey the natural impulsive life-force to love. However, we do not consider this energy. We reside herein the pressure to which is given us to love you and help you resist not your own I AM present moment encounter with your love vibration which seeks to always bless more than your energy fields can remember to even ask.

Glorified God becomes the light field to which draws forth in this world to which you are assigned. And in the beginning, you will not understand this new light that enters into the chambers of the Seven Sacred Body Temples which abide, one within the other one, within your experience in the flesh.

The crowning fortress of energy that surrounds the top of the cranium is a light body unto itself. Here there is a release of power units measured by our love vibration which accords itself within the name "I AM." And, as these energy patterns register here, we can assist because we can attune ours with yours. It is important to maintain frequency levels of joy and happiness and peace of mind, which is the cornerstone for all other highly-vibrational energy tones.

Let us become purified in the worlds now that are being opened in your present consciousness. It is vital that as these worlds or "mind energy chambers" open themselves that they not be exposed to lower vibrations. Once they are filled with the totality of your awareness in pure light, or "passion for life", then all other chambers will close and ye shall not be tormented by them. It is not as though they are pushed aside in you, but they are simply closed and remain so as long as that new chamber of love remains aware in you.

No one in your world can grasp the dimensional frequencies that passing through are assisting all beings. Some anticipate or project their feelings into these energy patterns and intuit they are assisting yes, as so is with you. But they cannot be identified in any way with the current frequencies of energy measurements now available in the Earth.

Locally you will feel many changes occurring from every portal of awareness to which your mind knocks upon the door. And, as these portals are opened within you, stand empty in non-allowing other energies to pass through besides an empty heart filled with peace. Do not take anticipation to the portal's entrance, but sit still in wee hours of the I AM who calls you whenever and let the mind frequency, which is forever increasing in the stillness of attentiveness with your I AM, be that which releases and opens the portals of consciousness to allow you to enter these dimensional frequencies of light.

Naturally, that which is called "holy" would like to make Itself revealed. Treasure in your life whatever is endearing and hold endearment. Let that which is pleasure surround your environment and your mind so that whatever time of day your mind is at work, it is enfolded and immersed in that which is light. Your will is easily accessible to God's when you are filled with the treasures or the ideas of glory. Master teachers recognize that the entrance to the portals of the kingdoms within is always in joy and peace and great, great, gratitude. Nothing passes through the portals less than these vibrational equals. You are I AM and we are I AM and you are I AM and we are I AM. We are I AM and you are I AM and we are I AM.

The love of God calls Its own. There is nothing left except to Will the love of God. When you are called by someone you love, you respond. The love of God is calling you. And as you respond to the love of God, you will understand I AM the one that you are being called by - which is you. And the Master standing at the door is welcoming Itself. The reflection that you see is you. The one that you call to is you, and the one that responds to you is you. There is no God to answer your call. You are that which you seek. Contained within you I AM. The measure with which you can grasp is equal to that which you call power, power, power. This alone will bring you to the Source. There is no way find God. God is not lost. There is no way to seek Truth. Truth is the presence of the all-knowing I AM, and you are it. There is no journey to be taken. There is no mountain to climb. There is no path to trod. We are that which is forever present in you now as the love which calls Its own to just be. And that which you perceive as a seeking urgency within is that which is seeking to remember that which is already I AM you. You will continue to feel the forward motion of that which is all that you are until such time as you turn within upon yourself and find that both sides of that which you seek are one. The master teachers before you have known the truth and tried in vain to convey this reality of union with self. But they have failed, for only union with self can possibly reveal that which is.

Coming into awareness now as a collective that in your world soon to make a big shift in which is available to become known. And by the power of united love fields gathering here and there, many shall approach the awareness to which we speak as the world becomes I AM. That which you identify as your own being---completely unattached to other beings--shall not be the remembered I AM to which you now identify.

The capacity for union will engulf you to a point of recognition only of "There I AM; and there I AM; and, there I AM; and there I AM." With you there so many realms of existence simultaneously, and that makes it difficult for attunements, for the energy patterns simply seem crisscrossed to the mind and bring confusions as each idea of realm existence seeks to entice or to take you to its awareness. Therefore, it is imperative that you reunite your own mind with your own mind in the beginning. For until you are stable within your own field of light can you be able to attune and discern that which is the most compatible frequency with your own.

Nurture the child within you by sustaining energy focused in bliss. And entertaining yourself with that which brings you great joy with a mind which knows that the joy, whatever it may be, is the Will of God impressing Itself and intending Itself to be experienced by Itself, which you are.

No amount of coercion can persuade any transformation. No amount of begging can bring forth a changed state of mind. No amount of yearning can manifest goodness. That which is the gift is the gift to be given by the gift that you are already I AM.

Turn around the look at yourself and you will see I AM. Look not into another one's eyes and see them. Look into another one's eyes and see you. You are not separate beings except in flesh form only. The life force that brings forth the flesh form is identical, and the mind persuasion in each life being is what brings about a sense of separate identity.

The joy of the life force is in individual expression of Itself. In many ways you are entering now into new fields of education with the soulful reunion of energies mastering themselves in your plane of existence. By mastery is simply allowing that life force to fully express itself in every that which you call “person” identified as the presence of God. Appreciation of the life force extended in another, would you call. . .life form will open you to greater expression of the life energy expression in you.

Natural flow of life force is in allowing the wheat to grow with the tares, and the sun to shine opposite the moon, and the wind and the rain to be together one. Large amounts of hail may fall, and yet they soon melt and become that which nurtures the grass. Measure not that which is the extension of God’s formation, but look at all there is manifested as life forming.

Gather with your ideas the simplicity of I AM the all that is forever everywhere present. And as I observe Myself extended through the formation of the impulsed desire of my God, I can enjoy more of Myself here in this plane of existence.

Hold that which you see in your heart with reverence and appreciation for the extension of the life force dedicated to beautification.

Walk with peace in your bones.

Breathe with the natural flow as the wind carries the seeds of life where they will.

Multiply your energies by focused intended. . .Multiply your energies by focused intentions.

Make not work of life. Let life be worked in the way of the Will of God to which always brings more extended blessings of the life force.

Prepare your hearts in obedience to the Will by loving yourself completely. By “self”, you must understand that all that you see is your extension. And that which is extended then becomes one in the understanding to which opens the greater kingdoms of unification within the consciousness that resides as your extension of God. Broadening your fields of acceptance of yourself, thus then empowers you to unite more fully with all the kingdoms of extended are AM. And then, as you view the perspective future, you will see there is no limit or time - there is only more of that which is the Eternal.

Loving energies pour forth naturally through the mind which says “I AM the Will of God.” There is a flow that comes from a Source as that which is you, but cannot be understood because it is the Source. And when allowed with open mind, not thought taken of its own, it fills the extension of Itself complete. And from that fullness manifests according to that which it contains. You are I love you, and you are the power of one, and you are the manifestation of that which is the desire of the Source.

The Holy energy to which is manifesting through ourselves as we are collecting more into a unit brings forth cosmic generations and makes forth new ideas of planetary systems, if you will for your simplicity sake, for generations to evolve. And that which is glory beyond the mind's eye to which mind nor energy fields at this point could ever acclaim a knowing I AM, there will be gathered more fields for us to entertain and to rejoice the worlds to come. Our God never ceases creation of its own extension, and every extension which fulfills Its. . .purpose is empowered by collectively uniting to create a greater extension of the one God so that every mansion is more glorious to the beholder to which is I AM part of that which created it, which is God. You are that. And the Holy Light of God, which measures not Itself, let it not be measured by you.

Will you trust that which is the gift of yourself? And will you allow it full flow? This can be done if you will open that which is called your mind to emptiness. When a vessel is empty it is then available for that whichever choice is made to fill, and the God which created the vessel shall fill it full with that choice of its own. Thus we have the perfect "human being." Let us now be centered in the idea of emptiness in the mind and watch from a point of space.

Do you believe in the one who came and told you, "This is the way I AM."?

Do you believe in the one who said, "The will of God is eternal life."?

Do you believe in the one who lifted His energy field in front of billions of energy fields to show them their energy fields? Do you believe?

Do you believe in the cosmic return of the Christ?

Do you believe in the regeneration of the cellular tissue of that extension of the God to which is in all?
